My 3.5 yr old son loves this book. It tells a condensed version of the Finding Nemo story, and his favorite part is the last page where "Nemo loves his dad and his dad loves him." My son gives me (his dad) a special hug.

Our son, age 4.5, loves reading this book. He feels like he's reading a real big boy book! Most of the words are basic, but there are enough words to tell a real story (based on the movie, of course).

Many "Level 1 Readers" are really dull for adults and kids quickly outgrow them. This book's engaging pictures and plot keep us reaching for it over and over.

This attractive little book retells the story from Pixar's hit movie, Finding Nemo. Each page of the book is filled with bright and wonderfully done illustrations. Accompanying that is text, telling a somewhat simplified version of the story from the movie. This book is quite good, and my four-year-old really enjoyed having it read for her. It is right on for young readers, using simple text and generally small words. Plus the illustrations are sure to please any fan of the movie. So, let me just say that if you love Pixar's wonderful movies, you will like this book.

My 3 year old Daughter loves Nemo. This is a great book to read with a toddler/preschooler b/c they can memorize and read the pages with you. Which is what my daughter does. We used this book and other titles as reinforcement gifts for potty training. My daughter has always loved books so these make great cheap gifts for going potty. Or great gifts for listening and being good.

This book follows the Nemo plot, but the text is stilted and poorly written. If I'd leafed through this in the store, I would not have purchased it. I'm a fan of the Step into Reading books, but this one was a miss.

Cute father-son story. Not appropriate for a beginning reader with no reading experience. It doesn't have rhyming, repetition, hints in the pictures, etc. If your child is already reading and has built up some confidence, this may be fine. This feels more like a step 2 to me.

The tale is a classic. Nemo in a written story is a good time to sit with your son and read him a story. The story outlines while Nemo's father worries about him and himself, he still loves Nemo and will do brave things to get him back and keep him safe. The color of the pictures though not as vivid and detailed as the Pixar animated characters are accurate in their appearance to the characters in the film. It will be a good read for your child to start with at ages 2-4.

My daughter just started reading this book at 4 1/2 years old. She loves it. The names of the fish were of course throwing her off but after I helped her with that, the book is a fun read for her.
