James Patterson does an amazing job of drawing in young readers to his Middle School series, my 10 yr old zips through these and can't wait until the next one comes out. He finished this one in 2 hours, telling me he couldn't put it down. The middle school series tells the true things that happen from the start of middles school as you go through your years there, the trials and tribulations. I highly suggest this book for 9-12 year olds, it's an amazing series!!!!

This book was written in such a way that the reader feels like he/she is right there, in his head. You immediately liked him. He is realistic and funny. A survivor. I thought of my grandson who is 15 would enjoy these books. He is in "Specials" too.

The book is great quality as u can see in my photos the book arrived very fast and in great condition . My son is on book 6 and can not wait to complete it he is very excited to get to it but is very said it will end . I have heard there might be one more " how I end up in London " but I am not sure I recommend this book and I would buy it again !

Middle School delivers. It is clever, funny and keeps the reader wanting more. This book is a great read ad kids will want to read it again and again. The book is a big successful read and I would recommend this book. James Patterson never disappoints !!!!

My boys ages are 10 and 11 LOVE these books. They start reading and can not put them down. I have them reading over nine of the James Patterson Middle School books over the Summer to keep them up to date with their reading skills before School starts back up and they actually BEG me every day to let them read them. WIN- WIN

Rafe Khatchadorian is back in this 7th book in the Middle School series and he is up to his old tricks again - sort of. If you read any of the books in this series and liked it, you will like this one. This is a great series for reluctant readers (especially boys). There are cartoonish drawings throughout the books and they move at a fast pace. Your 4th-8th grader needs to read this series!!

I really loved this book. I'm 11 Years old and I loved this book. It has a lot of humor and It made me laugh sometimes. I liked it enough that I read another James Patterson book like this one. In my opinion this book is for Boys or Girls. I really empathized with him when he was bullied or felt good.

I bought this book for my ten year old grandson and he thoroughly enjoyed it. He just entered Middle School and could relate to some of the book's content. Some of the storyline made him sad but he thought most of it was pretty entertaining
