High Times: A History Of Aviation (Leporello)

Synopsis

Respected Berlin illustrators Golden Cosmos celebrate the cultural history of flight in the latest title from Nobrow's popular Leporello series. A concertina book, High Times unfolds to reveal a bold fifty-four-inch panorama that can be read as a book, displayed on a mantelpiece, or framed as a beautiful print. With their trademark bold use of color and adeptness for shape and form, Golden Cosmos lovingly recall humanity's quest to conquer the skies. Featuring everything from Icarus' mythological attempts to the revolutionary innovations of the Jet Age and beyond, High Times is perfect for lovers of history, technology, and art alike.

Customer Reviews

I bought this for my 14 year old son, who has been interested in aviation and aerospace since he was 4. When I gave it to him, he opened it up and immediately pronounced it, "Cool!" This is a major accomplishment for a mom of a teen, who is used to reactions ranging from apathy to disgust. Certainly, the format doesn't lend itself to a highly detailed account of aviation history, but this book is a true feast for the eyes, and should bring pleasure to aviation enthusiasts of most any age.

This is a beautiful fold out booklet with wonderful illustrations depicting an abridged history of the world of human flight. I'd love to frame it for the wall - the only problem is both sides are equally enchanting!

A fantastic fold out book beautifully illustrated. The definition of eye candy! Buy it!
